- Eprints in Library and Information Science

e-LIS, i.e., eprints in Library and Information Science (<http://eprints.rclis.org/>) has been recently migrated to a new hosting institution, the "Federico II" University of Naples (Italy). Founded in 1224, this University is the oldest 'state' university in the world. Since 2003, it promotes Open Access to results from scientific research and favors the sharing and growth of scientific knowledge. Under the imprint "FedOA. Federico II Open Access University Press", the CAB (Center for Libraries at "Federico II" University) delivers Open Access to academic articles, books and research data through the institutional repository and the platforms for scientific journals and e-books series. The "Federico II" University of Naples also provides support to international disciplinary repositories, such as RM Open Archive, a very relevant Open Access scholarly repository, which covers the whole range of medieval studies, and now E-LIS, the most important Open Archive for Library and Information Science. The details of the news can be accessed from <http://eprints.rclis.org/>

- IGNOU helps Ministry of Culture in Creating a National Virtual Library of India

The Indira Gandhi National Open University (IGNOU) is aiding in the initiative of Ministry of Culture under the National Mission of Libraries by way of creating a union catalogue of libraries across India which apart from books includes artefacts and other resources from libraries, museums, archives etc. using open source platform Koha. Now, we can search the availability of any book/ manuscript/ periodical/ journal which we thought is no more available in our nearest library or a 3D image of any museum artefact with a click of a mouse.

Prof. Ravindra Kumar, Vice Chancellor, IGNOU, during the inaugural session of a five day training workshop organised by IGNOU in conjunction with the Ministry of Culture and the Raja Rammohan Roy Library Foundation (RRRLF), Kolkata emphasised the requirement of capacity building of library professionals especially with the major trend of adoption of ICT applications in all walks of life and Digital India Initiative of Government of India.

- 200+ Free Art Books are now available to download from the Guggenheim Tomes of work by Picasso, Kandinsky, Lichtenstein, Flavin, Klimt, Rothko, and more are as good as ours. A veritable art history degree's worth of books digitized by the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum are now available for free. There's Wassily Kandinsky's 1946 treatise, On the Spiritual in Art; books about movements from the Italian metamorphosis and Russian Constructivism; thousands of years of Aztec and Chinese art; and catalogs of work by the many greats to pass through the Guggenheim's Frank Lloyd Wright-designed halls. Formerly locked in paper prisons (a.k.a., hard-copy books), analysis of work by Pablo Picasso, Roy Lichtenstein, Dan Flavin, Robert Rauschenberg, Gustav Klimt, Mark Rothko, and more is now free to roam the web as PDFs and ePubs.

The initiative to publish certain entries from The Guggenheim's vast library began with 65 catalogs published in 2012, and has now grown to 205 titles. This joins 43 titles available in the Los Angeles County Museum of Art's Online Reading Room, 281 from Getty Publications' Virtual Library, and the Metropolitan Museum of Art Met Publications' whopping 1,611 books we can download for free. That's in addition to the 375,000+ high resolution images of the artworks themselves the Met dumped into the public domain earlier this year.
